

The new building on the new poor farm at the Cole place, about four miles West of town is now complete, and the County Commissioners were out there last Wednesday to inspect it. The building has twenty-six rooms above the basement, and will be a very nice place for some of the Bloomington newspaper men to go after awhile.

---