Halloween Fun at the Library

It?s October??time to get ready for Halloween and all things fall with book recommendations and events for all ages! Read more

Posted by Mandy H. on September 24, 2019

Halloween
Horror
Horror Fiction
Scary Story
For the Love of Reading
Information, Answers & Reviews
Oh, the Thinks You Can Think
Mandy H.'s blog

Halloween Hoopla at the Library!

Among this ghostly phenomena, there are many spooky opportunities for ghouls of all ages to Read, Learn, Connect, and Create at the Library throughout the month! Read more
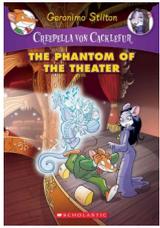

Posted by Nathan K. on September 25, 2018

Halloween
Information, Answers & Reviews
Nathan K.'s blog

Spooktacular October Reads for Younger Elementary

view in catalog

Fall is a great time to curl up with a spooky read. These books are just slightly spooky, but have major laughs so they are perfect for younger elementary kids who like to be just a little bit scared.

The Phantom of the Theater (Creepella Von Cacklefur series) by Geronimo Stilton Read more

Posted by Alejandria G. on October 17, 2016

Halloween

Oh, the Thinks You Can Think

Alejandria G.'s blog

Spooktacular October Reads for Older Elementary

view in catalog

The cool, crisp autumn air usually means one thing to us book lovers: it?s time to curl up with a spooky read. Here are some great, spine-tingling upper elementary reads to get you through the month.

The Screaming Staircase (Lockwood & Co., Book 1) by Jonathan Stroud

Fifty years ago, ghosts, poltergeists, and spirits of all manner started popping up all over England. This was only the start of the Problem. As it turns out, talented young people with psychic sensitivities were the only ones capable of detecting these spirits and keeping them in check.

 Read more

Posted by Alejandria G. on October 10, 2016

Halloween

Oh, the Thinks You Can Think

Alejandria G.'s blogLog in to post comments