

Meeting Rooms, Studios, and Study Spaces

The Library offers several free and low-cost opportunities to reserve meeting rooms, art exhibit and display space, study rooms, and digital creativity video and audio production studios.

Meeting Room Spaces

The Main Library is the perfect setting for your performance, celebration, or business meeting. Its central location in the heart of downtown Bloomington makes it an ideal venue for businesses and book lovers alike. The newly-renovated Ellettsville Branch adds new options to the Ellettsville community including an expanded program room to accommodate large meetings of up to 110 people.

The Main Library's tasteful and accessible auditorium offers fixed theater seating for 144, including a stage, stage lights, projector with screen, DVD player, lectern, microphone options, and a piano and electronic keyboard. Most additional meeting rooms, which seat 10–144, feature table and chair seating, projectors with screens, and dry erase boards.

Meeting room space is available free of charge during library hours to all Monroe County organizations and local units of government. Some rooms at the Main Library are also available to local businesses for a fee. To reserve space, you must have a library card and be at least 18 years old. Please read the full meeting room policy.

Meeting room space can be reserved a week to 90 days in advance. Reserve a meeting room.

Art Exhibit and Display Space

A corridor art exhibit and display space on the first floor of the Main Library is available free of charge to individuals and community nonprofit groups. A similar space is available at the Ellettsville Branch. To reserve either space, you must have a library card and be at least 18 years old. The Library welcomes donations from artists for works sold as a result of being on exhibit at the Library, but the direct sale of works is not permitted on Library property. Please read the full art exhibit and display policy. Reserve a gallery space.

Production Studio Spaces at Main

Video and audio production studios are available free of charge to individuals of all ages with a library card at the Main Library. They may be reserved for 1, 1.5, or 2 hours, as early as 24 hours in advance. Please read the full production studio space policy.

The Library's all-ages video production studio includes a green screen, green screen suit, various cameras, professional-grade tripods, microphones, channel mixer, teleprompter, and studio lights.

Two all-ages audio production studios include professional headphones, iMacs with professional software, Focusrite interfaces, condenser mics, a keyboard controller, digital piano, dynamic mics, and various guitars. Video and audio production studios are located on the first floor of the Main Library. Reserve a production studio space.

Study Rooms

Quiet study rooms are available free of charge to individuals of all ages with a library card. They may be reserved for 1, 1.5, or 2 hours, as early as 24 hours in advance. Please read the full study room policy.

Study rooms are located in both the Main and Ellettsville Branch Library for individual and small group use. Each study room features a table and chairs; dry erase board and markers; and Wi-Fi access. Reserve a study room.

Questions on how to reserve these spaces? Call (812) 349-3050.

Updated February 13, 2020

Subscribe to Library newsletters