All Because You Matter
by Tami Charles
(Juvenile Picture Books – Ej Joy)

A lyrical, heart-lifting love letter to Black and Brown children everywhere reminds them how much they matter, that they have always mattered and they always will. Recommended for ages 3–6.

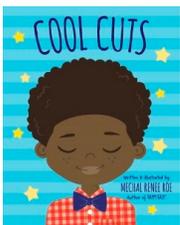

Black is a Rainbow Color by Angela Joy
(Juvenile First Chapter Books – J Sc)

A child reflects on the meaning of being Black in this anthem about a people, a culture, a history, and a legacy that lives on. Recommended for ages 3–6.

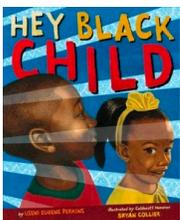

Brand-New School, Brave New Ruby by Derrick D. Barnes
(Juvenile Fiction – J Barnes)

Series: Ruby and the Booker Boys
When Ruby Booker starts third grade at Hope Road Academy, the same school her three illustrious older brothers attend, she tries hard to make an impression of her own. Recommended for ages 6–9.

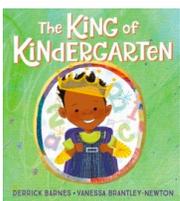

Cool Cuts by Mechal Renee Roe
(Juvenile Picture Books – Ej Roe)

This affirming, joyful celebration of the diversity of black self-expression is told through illustrations of hairstyles and an empowering refrain. Recommended for ages 3–6.

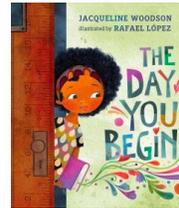

Hey Black Child by Useni Eugene Perkins
(Juvenile Nonfiction – J 811.54 Per)

A lyrical, empowering poem that celebrates black children and seeks to inspire all young ones to dream big and achieve their goals. Recommended for ages 6–9.

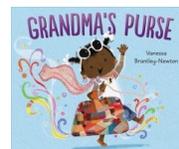

The King of Kindergarten
by Derrick D. Barnes
(Juvenile Picture Books – Ej Bar)

Instilled with confidence by his parents, a young boy has a great first day of kindergarten. Recommended for ages 3–6.

The Day You Begin
by Jacqueline Woodson
(Juvenile Picture Books – Ej Woo)
Series: Notebooks of Doom

There will be times when you walk into a room and no one there is quite like you. There are many reasons to feel different. Maybe it's how you look or talk, or where you're from; maybe it's what you eat, or something just as random. It's not easy to take those first steps into a place where nobody really knows you yet, but somehow you do it. Recommended for ages 6–9.

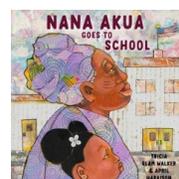

Grandma's Purse
by Vanessa Brantley-Newton
(Juvenile Picture Books – Ej Bra)

Spend the day with Mimi and her granddaughter in this charming picture book about the magic found in Mimi's favorite accessory, perfect for readers who love How to Babysit a Grandma! When Grandma Mimi comes to visit, she always brings warm hugs, sweet treats...and her purse. You never know what she'll have in there—fancy jewelry, tokens from around the world, or something special just for her granddaughter. It might look like a normal bag from the outside, but Mimi and her granddaughter know that it's pure magic! Recommended for ages 3–6.

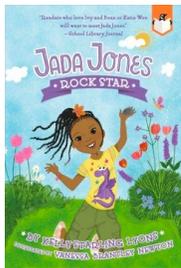

Hands Up! by Breanna McDaniel
(Juvenile Picture Books – Ej Mcd)

A young girl lifts her hands up in a series of everyday moments, such as giving a hug, playing basketball, before finally raising her hands in resistance at a protest march. Recommended for ages 3–6.

Nana Akua Goes to School
by Tricia Elam Walker
(Juvenile Picture Books – Ej Wal)

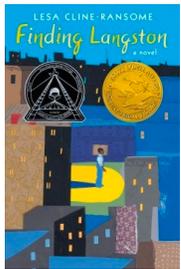

Zura is worried about how her classmates will react to her Ghanaian Nana's tattoos on Grandparents Day, but Nana finds a way to show how special and meaningful they are. Recommended for ages 3–6.

Rock Star by Kelly Starling Lyons
(Juvenile First Chapter Books – J Lyons)
Series: Jada Jones

Fourth-grader Jada's best friend moved away but a class project on rocks and minerals, her favorite topic, could mean new friends. For Jada, rocks are easier to find than friends. Or are they? Recommended for ages 6–9.

Older Elementary

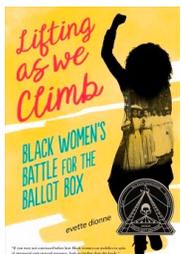

Finding Langston by Lesa Cline-Ransome
(Juvenile Fiction – J Clinera)

Discovering a book of Langston Hughes' poetry in the library helps Langston cope with the loss of his mother, relocating from Alabama to Chicago as part of the Great Migration, and being bullied. Recommended for ages 9–12.

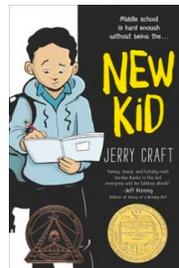

From the Desk of Zoe Washington
by Janae Marks
(Juvenile Fiction – J Sansouc)

Zoe Washington isn't sure what to write. What does a girl say to the father she's never met, hadn't heard from until his letter arrived on her twelfth birthday, and who's been in prison for a terrible crime? A crime he says he never committed. Could Marcus really be innocent? Zoe is determined to uncover the truth. Even if it means hiding his letters and her investigation from the rest of her family. Everyone else thinks Zoe's worrying about doing a good job at her bakery internship and proving to her parents that she's worthy of auditioning for Food Network's Kids Bake Challenge. But with bakery confections on one part of her mind, and Marcus's conviction weighing heavily on the other, this is one recipe Zoe doesn't know how to balance. Recommended for ages 9–12.

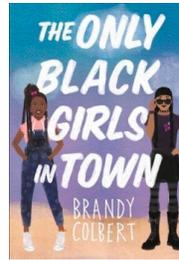

Lifting As We Climb : Black Women's Battle for the Ballot Box
by Evette Dionne
(Juvenile nonfiction – J 323.34 Dio)

For African American women, the fight for the right to vote was only one battle. An eye-opening book that tells the important, overlooked story of Black women as a force in the suffrage movement—when fellow suffragists did not accept them as equal partners in the struggle. Recommended for ages 9–12.

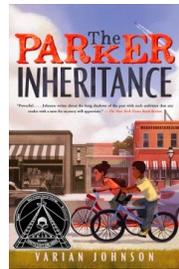

New Kid by Jerry Craft
(Juvenile Graphic Novels- J-GN Craft New Kid)

After his parents send him to a prestigious private school known for its academics, Jordan Banks finds himself torn between two worlds. Watch for the sequel, Class Act, soon! Recommended for ages 9–12.

The Only Black Girls in Town
by Brandy Colbert
(Juvenile Fiction – J Colbert)

In a predominately white California beach town, the only two black seventh-graders, Alberta and Edie, find hidden journals that uncover family secrets and speak to race relations in the past. Recommended for ages 9–12.

The Parker Inheritance
by Varian Johnson
(Juvenile Fiction – J Johnson)

Twelve-year-old Candice Miller is spending the summer in Lambert, South Carolina, in the old house that belonged to her grandmother, who died after being dismissed as city manager for having the city tennis courts dug up looking for buried treasure—but when she finds the letter that sent her grandmother on the treasure hunt, she finds herself caught up in the mystery and, with the help of her new friend and fellow book-worm, Brandon, she sets out to find the inheritance, exonerate her grandmother, and expose an injustice once committed against an African American family in Lambert. Recommended for ages 9–12.

Season of Styx Malone by Kekla Magoon
(Juvenile Fiction – J Magoon)

Caleb Franklin and his big brother, Bobby Gene, spend an extraordinary summer with their new, older neighbor, Styx Malone, a foster boy from the city. Recommended for ages 9–12.

Something to Say
by Lisa Moore Ramée
(Juvenile Fiction – J Ramee)

A friendless girl who has developed a knack for keeping her head down at school resists a red-headed newcomer who wants to make friends, before the two are paired for a class assignment that she hopes will secure her position on the debate team. Recommended for ages 9–12.
