

Grades K-6

From encyclopedias, eBooks, and information about world cultures, to animated picture books and audiobooks—outstanding, relevant resources for your classroom are at your fingertips.

You can use the Library's online resources to identify and incorporate age-appropriate reading and reference materials into your classroom. Access to text, video, audio, and animated picture books means different learning styles are accommodated. Some resources include translation features to support the needs of English-language learners.

Grades 7-12

Your students aren't just preparing for graduation. They're preparing for college, the job market, and self-sufficiency. The high-quality reference and learning resources available through the Library allow you to tailor your lesson plans around the critical skills needed for living, learning, and working in the 21st century.

Use the Library's electronic resources to incorporate these tools into your curriculum:

Reading and reference materials compatible with most popular digital devices

Authoritative information suitable for research

Self-paced learning to supplement classroom instruction

Familiarity with online learning that prepares students for tomorrow's colleges and workplaces
